Mr. Schults Cartius, having acquired certain rights in some of the more advanced Wagner operas, proposes to give one or more cycles of "Der Ring des Nibelungen" in similar manner to that prevaining at the Bayreuth festivals. The operas will necessarily begins at 5 o'clock in the afternoon; but there will be a "dinner interval" of an hour and a half, and the entertainments will conclude about 11.

All the works will be rendered in German, and in their entirety—no "cuts" being allowed. Herr Seal or Herr Mottl will direct the orchestra, and the stage management will be in the hands of a great master of the art. Probably the fact that no festival will be held at Bayreuth next year will attract a large number of Wagneries, who delight in listening to wagner unabrorieded.

The popularity of musical comedy is apparently on the wane, and a whole sale revival of comic opera, or operation, there is a talk of reviving "Orphée aux Enfere," "La Belle Helene," "La Belle Helene," "La Belle Helene," "La Princesse de Trebizonde," and "Madame Favart."

It is curious to note as the years roll by the fayourite novelty chosen by pro-

Cannot something be done to check of mitigate the draughts at the Shaftesbury Theatre? On Wednesday evening I sat close to one of the Shaftesbury Theatre? On Wednesday evening I sat close to one of the stalls doors, and whenever that door was opened a stream of cold air came in I understood special pains were to be taken by the new lessees to deal with this evil, which does so much to keep people from going to the play. Please, Mr. Musgrove, look to it. Why not have a swing door in each of the passages leading to the stalls? That probably, would meet the difficulty.

I should say that the announcement of the production of a farce by Mr. Calmour would draw a big house to the Gaisty next Thursday afteranoon. Mr. Calmour is so largely identified with the serious, postic drama that man, I should think, would be curious of the farce is a man whose professed business it is to bring together again married people or engaged lovers who have quarrelled. He is a "doctor of hearts" (which, by the way, would have made a good title for the piece).

Miss Cissis Loftus seems to have the meaning a corps of Amazons, in order to make good deficiencies in our fighting line. What other explanation can be suggested to account for his refusal to the same and the weighing the expediency of raising a corps of Amazons, in order to make good deficiencies in our fighting line. Of new features in pneumatic tyres there is little to be seen. The unpuncturable tyre, which is not slow and lacking resiliency, has still to be waited for. The Amalgamated Tyre Co. have certainly a tyre which they claim possesses these long wished for qualities, but one must wait for practical trials. The Maxfield vacuum tyre is certainly a novelty, as its name suggests. The special feature of the tyre lies in its method of attachment. The tyre is a tubeless one, which is held on to the rim by a so-called vacuum chamber—a thick rubber tube.

Regarding the many exhibits of accessories. I think the rider will do best to pay a vait to Gamage's and the John Griffiths Corporation. At the former. I have been shown a large number of saddles, to which I will refer again. A novelty which struck me as being a useful one was a new bell for tandems, which is rung by the back wheel. Taking the Stanley Show on its merits one must admit that as a trade exhibition it is above the average. It is impossible for the eyele trade to introduce radical innovations year, after year, and, as has been said before in these columns, we have apparently arrived at a degree of excellence, both in finish, lightness, and ease of runing that will be difficult to improve upon—even by the most weird and aggressive of inventors.

renovating old dresses of last year's make.

A friend of mine, who is particularly clever, arranged an evening dress in the following style:—She managed to find some pretty lengths of kilted cream gauze with satin stripes, at 1½d. a yard. So she had her pink China silk skirt cut open in front to make room for a front breadth of cream satin at 2s. a yard. This, in its turn, was covered with rows of the cream frilling. A biase fold of cream satin, the width of the pleating, went all rounds.

attached to one of the thickened edges of the tyre. The vacuum chamber fits into the bed of the rim between the edges of the cover, and is fitted with an exhaust valve. When the tyre is inflated the vacuum chamber is forced down by the pressure of air until it flattens out and locks the thickened edges of the cover under the lips of the rim. A very ingenious invention.

LONDON GOVERNMENT.

Lord Salisbury had much to say at the splendid reception which was accorded to him in the Albert Hall, upon the state of Europe, but the gist of his speech was the announcement of a new scheme for the government of London. According to the Radical interpretation of his intimation that means the destruction of the County Council. It means, we venture to say at once, nothing of the kind. The name may or may not be retained, but it is obvious that there must be a central governing body for purposes of common interest to the whole of London, such, for example, as main drainage and a few other objects; and no-body has ever dreamed of doing without one. It would be ridiculous to deny that the County Council has done much excellent work, and what is wanted is a reform that will enable its place, to go on doing such work, and to do it still better. To secure that object we must fall back upon what Mr. Gladstone called the principle of Devolution. The council has too much on its hands; it is simply too much could be a great deal better in tillided by smaller local governing produces which could be a great deal better when could be a great deal better with the same of self-switch, and its the creation of such the new scheme. Broadly speaking, swestries will give place to municipalities will be accorded powers of self-government such as are enjoyed anticipates, and we have no doubt a rightly, that the change will bring the best men in the several districts into public life, and that, as a consequence, every part of the metropolis will be better administered. But let on body imagine that the Government to mother than the public life, and that, as a consequence, every part of the metropolis will be better administered. But let on body imagine that the Government want to bring back parochialism with its miserable inefficiency, perpetual jobery, and abuses of all kinds. If their proposals are carried into effect we may hope to see London in future leading the services of the seatisfied with our present system; what we want is to represent system; what we want is to

CHILD KILLED BY BRANDY.
Dr. Ambrose yesterday held an inquiry with reference to the death of Hubert C. Free, 4, son of a porter, Peachcrott-rd., Leyton.—The mother deposed that the child developed measles on the previous Sunday, and she treated it with saffron and brandy. On Tuesday she left deceased in bed, and on a table near was a bottle containing brandy. When she went into the room later witness found that nearly half a pint of brandy had gone from the bottle. The child was lying unconscious at the foot of the bed.—Dr. Pearson deposed to finding the child suffering from alcoholic poisoning, from the effects of which it died the same night.—Verdict of death from misadventure.

Home rails would be all the better, from a speculative standpoint, for a vigorous ahake down. At current quotations they certainly present few attractions either to "bull" operators or to investors. Should the engineering war continue, traffic receipts will be bound to shrink. There is o little doing in American rails, that to comment on the department would be a waste of trouble. Foreign securities are also nearly lifeless, the increased tension of our relations with France, together with the Austro-Turkish quarrel, having knocked the bottom out of the market.

The prorogation of the Transvall Volksraad until February, without doing one single thing to benefit the gold mining industry, is simply a scandalous breach of all Mr. Kruger's promises and pledges. He is reported to have just expressed the opinion that "the dynamite monopoly is not the greatest curse of the country." For once, the old man has strayed into veracity; he himself, with his pigheaded obstinacy, is "the greatest curse of the country." Happily, he and his Doppers cannot blight Rhodesia, and the Stock Exchange, and dealy awakening to that fact, begins to show much greater appreciation of it fines therefore, to make judicious investments in that department, and also in deep level Rand shares. LORD ESHER'S GOOD-BYE.
Lord Esher, late Master of the Rolls, took formal leave of his brother judges and of the bar this week. The gathering was a brilliant representative one of bench and bar. It took place before noon in the court of the Lord Chief untice. every nart of which was cek. The gathermeth and her. It took place before moon in the court of the Lord Chief Justice, every part of which was rowded. The fanewell speech on behalf of the legal profession was delivered by the Attorney general, Sir R.
Webster.—Lord Esher, in reply, said he had been a judge, assisted by them ull, for the last 29 years and some nonths. He had throughout his thole judicial career done nothing in our except remember from the beining to the end of a case that his ity was to try and get at what was rht in it. The duty of a judge was to d out what was the rule which ople of candour, of honour, and of rness would apply; that was the amon law of England, and there hot it was equity law. "I have one painful word to all of you."
